Technology

Bring a laptop or tablet to class when the schedule says so. If you don't have one, the library lends them for the semester. Report technical problems to the help desk before the deadline, not after. Religious observance

If a religious holiday conflicts with an assignment or exam, let me know during the first two weeks of class so that we can arrange an alternative. If a religious holiday conflicts with an assignment or exam, let me know during the first two weeks of class so that we can arrange an alternative.

Attendance

Attendance is expected at every class meeting. If you must miss class for an illness or a university-sanctioned activity, email the instructor before class when possible. Repeated absences will make it difficult to succeed in this course, because much of the material is introduced only in class.

Academic integrity

Article 2.III.B.2 of the Student Rights and Responsibilities states that the student shares with the faculty the responsibility for maintaining the integrity of scholarship, grades, and professional standards. You may discuss ideas with classmates, but the work you submit must be your own. Using AI tools to write answers you submit is not allowed unless an assignment says otherwise.

Accommodations

If you have a documented disability and need accommodations, contact the Resource Center for Persons with Disabilities (RCPD) and share your Verified Individualized Services and Accommodations (VISA) form with the instructor within the first two weeks of the semester.

Late work

Late work is accepted up to 48 hours after the deadline with a 10% penalty per day. Work more than 48 hours late receives no credit unless an extension was arranged in advance. Technology problems are not an excuse, so submit early and keep copies of your files.

Communication

Announcements are posted on D2L. Check D2L and your MSU email at least once a day. Questions about the material are best asked in office hours or on the course discussion board, where classmates can benefit from the answers too.
